

DR. JAEGER'S Pure Sanitary Woolen Underwear

A great deal of the sickness prevalent during this cold spell could be prevented by wearing Dr. Jaeger's pure and sanitary woolen underwear.

It prevents ingress of draught at front or back and is of double thickness over chest. It keeps the skin at an equable warmth in any weather.

It is a common mistake that woolen underwear is not necessary in Hawaii. Perhaps in no other place in the world can light woolen undergarments be worn with more beneficial results. Dr. Jaeger's woolen underwear is endorsed by the world's leading physicians.

S. P. C. A. LOOKS AFTER FOOD OF BIG SHARK

Manager Fred Potter Says He Does Not Give the Fish Any Live Puppies for Its Dinner.

"Now, I want to know who feeds the fishes," said a lady member of the S. P. C. A., who had paid her dime at the door of the Aquarium, walking back to look through the bars of Manager Fred Potter's cage after a hasty glance at the fat mullets swimming around and around the central tank.

"Why, the Jap," answered Fred. "But I mean, who is responsible for their feeding?"

"I am."

"Then, what do you mean by feeding live puppies to the shark and having a crowd here to applaud the cruel performance and watch the pitiful attempts of the poor little doggies to escape?"

"Why—why," stammered Potter. "I never did."

"Never did what?"

"Fed a live puppy to the shark."

Out in his big tank the shark rolled over on his side wearily as he swam around and around, now and again poking his ugly head up from the depths and taking a survey of the scenery with his wicked eyes. He would have made short work of a fat and juicy young dog, that shark. Any attempt the pup might have made to escape would have been so brief as to be scarcely worth the price of admission.

"I never fed even the littlest of little puppies to the shark," Manager Potter went on protesting. "I never fed anything to the shark, although I have tried to. The shark will not eat."

"Well," said the S. P. C. A. lady, "they told me you did, and I deemed it only right to come to headquarters and find out."

Then she went away from there and the big fishes that had all suspended anything to the shark, although I have tried to. The shark will not eat."

The shark, by the way, did not seem to be in his usual spirits yesterday. Maybe, indeed, he would have relished a fat puppy, or some such juicy tid-bit. He swam sluggishly, like a shark with a hob-nailed liver, almost turning on his side and shoving the water out of the way with his great body in the most ill-natured possible way. The shark, in fact, does not like the place he lives in. He is cramped for room, like a family of seven and four visitors from the country in a five-roomed city flat.

Also, he has been longer in captivity than any of his predecessors. This shark was caught twenty-six days ago, and there never was one in that tank before that lived more than fourteen days. It is not an easy role to fill, even for a shark, to be the oldest inhabitant. The responsibility clearly wears upon the fish.

The other fishes are all very well, thank you. Even the big octopus has concluded to accept the spotted fellow with knobs on his stomach as a squid and a brother, and peace broods over that tank once more.

The weather at the beach yesterday was absolutely perfect, the band played to a large crowd that stayed until the last note died away among the ironwood trees, the surf was full of bathers and coasting canoes, and all the resorts drew well. The Rapid Transit cars, by all lines, carried one of the biggest crowds of the season.
